Petersburg Rebuilding

S. L. Hogue was over from Petersburg last night bringing the Cottage City's mail. He reports that the work of re-building the burned area of Petersburg is on its full swing and the promise is that the new buildings will surpass the old ones. Hogue's store will be rebuilt on the opposite side of the street from where it was and will be bigger and more convenient than was the old structure. Jack Lindsay is putting up a good big building where formerly the drug store and the shoe shop stood, and the others are getting busy. The street will be widened and improved at the point where the fire occurred.

Will Change Street Names

At its last meeting, the Town Council introduced a resolution to change the names of the local streets in an attempt to secure uniformity. At the present time the streets are named any old way and any old name. A committee was appointed to take the matter in hand.

Good Things In Store For Wrangell

"I consider that the country up the Iskut and Stikine rivers has a great future, if the samples of ores I have seen from there are faithful indicators of what lies there," said J. L. Parker, one of the best known mining men of British Columbia and Southeastern Alaska to the Sentinel man, while the Cottage City was in port the other day. "You may not realize it," he continued, "but your district has been in the public eye of Victoria and Vancouver very much of late, owing to the unusual values represented in the assays of ore samples from the country back of you, and the glowing descriptions of the men who have been in to see the mighty treasures stowed away in your mountains."

"The country around Stewart City at the head of Portland canal is being proved, and in a very short time I am satisfied will realize the expectations of the people there. The railroad interests are bending all their efforts to complete the building of the line to the mines if possible before winter sets in. They are satisfied that the mineral is there, and are willing, apparently, to back their opinions with their money. Now, I have not been into the mineral belt back of your town here, but, judging from the descriptions of those who have been, and the sight of the ore samples I have been fortunate enough to see, I am of the opinion that the Iskut is practically the same formation as that of the country back of Stewart. If those Stewart properties are worth the millions mining men seem to think they are, it were safe to say that in all probability the Iskut's future is just as good. A little further away from easy transportation of course, but the values are so promising that distance will not cut much figure.

"Next year will probably witness the incoming of hundreds into this locality to go back into those hills to try to discover what nature has put there for them to seek and I believe that many of them will come back reporting that they have found what they were looking for. The mining industry of this region is hardly awake as yet. When it does come forth in all its vigor, Northern British Columbia and Southeastern Alaska will be in the front rank of the mineral districts of the world."

Mr. Parker was a passenger on the Cottage City enroute to Whitehorse, Y. T., whither he goes to look over a mining property for himself and his associates.

Raise Plenty of Money

"Cash" Conlter showed that he was entitled to his name last week by exceeding his expectations in raising cash for the hunting lodge on Gutt Island. Sufficient money was contributed to build the cabin and provide a good stove for it.

Jim Weeks is doing the assessment work on Ham Island for the Vermont Marble people.

Improving The Wharf

Mayor McCormack has a crew of men at work improving and otherwise repairing the local wharf. Besides overhauling the wharf and getting it in shape for the winter, an addition 12 x 60 feet will be constructed on the inside of the L for the accommodation of the fishermen. "Chips" Cole is in charge of the work.

Princess May Salved

Passengers going north on the last Cottage City report passing the Princess May on their way up. She was in tow of a tug, and was being taken to Esquimaux, B. C., where she will be placed in the dry dock and repairs made on her hull. The expectations are that she will be back on the run again within the next six or eight weeks or so.

Wrangell's poet laureate, Bobby Burns, arrived over from the west coast yesterday morning.

A New Coal Dealer

After experiencing quite a delay, Sam Cunningham has received his first consignment of coal, and is now ready for business. As his advertisement appearing in this week's Sentinel states, he is prepared to furnish high grade coal in any quantity. His coal shed is across the street from the Uhler building, where you will be able to find him most any time. He also carries the local agency for the Scripps gas engine. We haven't space enough to tell you all the advantages of this make of an engine but if you call and ask him Sammy will do so.

Part of Store Stock Arrives

The Dolphin brought in a big consignment of goods for Fred. C. Miles new store, and notwithstanding the fact that his shelving and store interior are not yet finished enough to display any of the goods, Mr. Miles has been kept busy ever since the boat was in satisfying the demands of his customers. Within the next week or ten days he will have his shelves stocked and will then tell you through the columns of the Sentinel of all the cash bargains he has for Wrangell buyers.

TO GOVERNOR AND JUDGE

The thanks of the people of the Tanana valley are due Governor Clark and Judge Overfield for their success in inducing the Attorney-General and the Secretary of Commerce and Labor to visit this section.

Since he first came to Alaska in his official capacity, Governor Clark has proved himself to be a most enthusiastic believer in and worker for the territory; but we do not think anything he has done in the past will have such far-reaching consequences as the visit just concluded.

Whatever may be the result from the visit of such highly-placed officials as the Hon. George Wickersham and the Hon. Charles Nagel, the people of the Tanana will always remember it to the credit of the Governor and Judge Overfield that they exerted themselves to such good effect, first to secure the presence of such visitors; and secondly to make their stay here so instructive and interesting.—Alaska Citizen.

The Fairbanks Times in an editorial on the result of the delegate election says: "We shall accept the verdict with good grace. The delegate is no longer candidate, subject to political attack, but the delegate of the people, whom it is our business to assist in every way we can."

While this paper was opposed to the candidacy of Mr. Wickersham because it was not in sympathy with the chief plank of his platform—territorial government—still it recognizes the fact that he is the people's choice for representative.

If Mr. Wickersham will go a step further in his self government scheme and work for the division of the District into two or more territories, then we believe he would be working for the best interests of Southeastern Alaska and by so doing change many of those who opposed him in the recent election into friends, and accomplish the greatest good for Alaska since the day that Secretary Seward brought her in under the American flag.

The Juneau Dispatch is responsible for the statement that United States District Attorney Rustgard has suggested to Judge Lyons that a better way to determine the will of the people on the saloon question would be by holding an election for that purpose. If such an election were held and the ballots were simply registered as for or against the granting of licenses in the locality it would materially simplify matters. However, if each applicant for a license should stand as a candidate, independent of the others, there would be an exciting and interesting contest. The Dispatch states that the Judge has taken the matter under consideration.—Douglas News.

Sir Wilfred Laurier, premier of Canada, paid a visit to Prince Rupert recently. He was greeted by over 5000 residents of Northern British Columbia headed by five bands. The new city which owes its existence to the railway policy of the premier, who declared that the building of the Grand Trunk Pacific was the crowning ambition of his life, was handsomely decorated in honor of the visitor.

M. T. Cook, who has been prospecting for quartz in the vicinity of Fairbanks for some time, has discovered some excellent prospects. A sample of silver ore was brought in by him to be assayed and showed very high values, running to 220 ounces of silver to the ton, with 60 per cent. lead. This discovery was made on Fairbanks creek and consists of a vein four and a half feet wide.

Notice of Hearing in Final Account

In the United States Commissioner's Court, Wrangell Precinct, First Division, District of Alaska.

IN PROBATE

In the matter of the Estate of W. F. Smith, deceased.

Jacob Babler, Administrator of the above named estate, this day filed his final account as such administrator and asked to have a day set for final hearing of the same.

The same will be heard on the 10th day of October, 1910, at the hour of 10 o'clock, a. m., at the courtroom of said court, in said town and precinct of Wrangell.

All persons interested in said estate are notified then and there to appear and show cause, if any they have, why said account should not be finally approved, and said administrator be finally discharged.

Made and entered this 5th day of August, A. D. 1910.

WM. G. THOMAS,
United States Commissioner, and
Ex-Officio Probate Judge. 9-15

Webster's NEW INTERNATIONAL Dictionary, (G. & C. Merriam Co., Springfield, Mass.) surpasses the old International as much as that book exceeded its predecessor. On the old foundation a new superstructure has been built. The reconstruction has been carried on through many years by a large force of trained workers, under the supervision of Dr. W. T. Harris, former United States Commissioner of Education, and reinforced by many eminent specialists. The definitions have been rearranged and amplified. The number of terms defined has been more than doubled. The etymology, synonyms, pronunciation, have received unsparing scholarly labor. The language of English literature for over seven centuries, the terminology of the arts and sciences, and the every-day speech of street, shop, and household, are presented with fullness and clearness. In size of vocabulary, in richness of general information, and in convenience of consultation, the book sets a new mark in lexicography.

400,000 words and phrases.
6000 illustrations.
2700 pages.

HAPPENINGS of INTEREST IN THE BUSY NORTH

Watermelons readily sell at $2.- 50 apiece in the Tanana.

Over a hundred cases of whooping cough are reported in Dawson.

The fireless cooker has reached the Tanana. It is a great help in bean cooking.

The big freighter LaTouche for the Alaska trade has been launched in Seattle.

August 17th was the anniversary of the great strike on Bonanza creek in the Yukon.

A patient escaped from the Good Samaritan hospital at Dawson and tried to swim the Yukon river. He was suffering from delirium.

In a speech delivered at Denver, ex-President Roosevelt advocated Alaska coal land to be controlled by the federal government.

The Royal Northwest mounted police from the Winnipeg border to the Yukon now numbers 600 men as compared with 1,100 men a few years ago.

Over five thousand dollars is shipped monthly from the states to pay the troops at Ft. Seward. It takes a very short time for about three-fourths of this sum to get into circulation.

Frank Stuart, agent for the Pacific Coast Steamship company at Skagway for the past five years, has been forced to resign because of ill-health. His successor is Frank H. Bold of Ketchikan.

All the Alaska coal land claims with the exception of the notorious Cunningham group will be investigated by order of Secretary of the interior R. A. Ballinger. The investigation will be in charge of Andrew Christensen, who succeeded Louis R. Glavis, dismissed chief of the first division of the general land office.

Thirty thousand tons of wonderfully rich copper ore is now blocked out at the Bonanza mine of the Alaska syndicate at the terminus of the Copper River & Northwestern railroad, according to Steve Birch, managing director of the syndicate. The expectations are that the railroad will be completed to that point by January next, he says, and the first train out will carry a cargo of 2000 tons of ore to Cordova enroute to the smelter at Tacoma.

Citizens of the Tanana valley intend to present President Taft with an Alaskan souvenir as a token of their appreciation of the efforts of the president to become better acquainted with the actual needs of the territory. The souvenir will be a large tusk, beautifully decorated and inlaid with nuggets, etc. The engravings on the tusk depict scenes relating to mining, fishing, hunting and other typically Alaskan industries.

Wonder How It Worked

Walter Swenson is fishing out on the flats and the story goes that the other evening as he was heading for town here, one of the other fishermen who has a gasoline engine in his boat and needed oil for the outside bearings, asked him to get some castor oil. Walter supposing that he wanted it for his own use, went to the drugstore for it, and the druggist being out of oil talked him into taking a package of Epsom Salts instead, and the question is what effect did they have on the gas engine.
